HAS VISITORS; HOME IS BURNED

While Mrs. Ernest Patterson Showed Guests Through the Orchard, Home is Destroyed.

CAUSED BY DEFECTIVE FLUE

Husband in Adjoining Field Sees Flames, But Arrives Too Late
—Was a Complete Loss.

While Mrs. Ernest Patterson of near Gowdy was showing her guests over the orchard and pointing out the good points of it, yesterday afternoon, her home only a few rods distant was being reduced to ashes. Her husband who was in the field near saw the smoke and rushed to the house to find it almost ruined. They saved only the clothes which they wore and the clothes which were hanging on the line to dry.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson live on the farm of Mrs. Nancy Hilligoss, who is a resident of Indianapolis. Mrs. Hilligoss is the widow of Elias Hilligoss. The place is located about one and one-half miles northwest of Gowdy in the southwestern part of the county just below Manila. The meat house which is located near the house and a large quantity of meat was also destroyed by the flames. It is believed that the fire originated from a defective flue. Mrs. Patterson was baking bread and had left the fire burning in the cook stove.

The fact that it was wash day saved the clothes which Mrs. Patterson had washed. That was the only property which they saved from the ruins aside from the clothes which they wore. Mrs. Patterson was showing her visitors through the orchard and did not notice that the house was on fire. When her husband, who was in an adjoining field, saw the flames, he rushed to the house but was too late. The structure was then a mass of fire and all efforts to save the household goods were useless. Several neighbors were attracted by the blaze but arrived too late to be of any assistance. Mr. Patterson knew that the house was doomed when he arrived, as it was then beyond saving.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson carried very little insurance on their household goods. It is not known whether or not Mrs. Hilligoss had any insurance on the buildings which were destroyed.

WILL ENTERTAIN IN INDIANAPOLIS

Mr. Morrison was seventy-seven years old and was formerly a resident of Walker township.

LAND SUIT HAS SUDDEN ENDING

Plaintiffs in Oldham et al vs. Widau et al. Case Decide to Try on Cross Complaint.

WHEN DEFENDANTS DISMISS IT

One of the suits in connection with the Widau estate came to a sudden ending this morning and was thrown out of court after being in for the past few months. The case of Mrs. Oldham, daughter of John Widau et al. against John Widau et al. to set aside conveyance and quiet title was filed. The hearing was set for May 12. Previous to that the defendant filed a cross complaint. The day of the trial came and it was postponed until today on account of the illness of Mrs. Bert McBride of Indianapolis, who was one of the plaintiffs. This morning the court was about ready to swear in the witnesses when the plaintiffs dismissed the complaint filed by the defendants. But the defendants were satisfied and dismissed the cross complaint, thus throwing the case out of court and leaving the land as it was before the suit was filed.

Charles Moorman Reaches His Father's Bedside Short Time Before the End Comes.

HELD OFFICE FOR 24 YEARS

Charles G. Moorman of this city received word this morning to come to Brookville on account of the critical illness of his father, John D. Moorman. He reached the bedside of his parent only a short time before he died. Mr. Moorman had been sick for a few days with pneumonia. He was eighty-two years old and a prominent Democrat of Franklin county, having held office for twenty-four years. His wife had been dead seven years and he is survived by seven children. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

PREPARED FOR ANNUAL EVENT

S. A. Long of Dayton, Ohio, Arrived and Will Deliver Address on
"The Golden Key."

23 GRADUATES IN THE CLASS

Main Street Christian Church is Very Artistically Decorated For the Occasion.

Everything is in readiness for the annual commencement of the high school and the class of 1910 will present a fine appearance in the Main Street Christian church which is decorated very tastefully and in a different style from any former schemes of decoration.

The Connersville Auditorium orchestra is here and prepared to furnish the music for the event. S. A. Long, the speaker for the occasion, arrived this afternoon, and is stopping at the Windsor hotel.

The Iowa "Malvern Leader" says of Mr. Long: "His lecture was one of the best ever given here, and all were sorry that it wasn't longer. He has a keen wit, a splendid well-modulated voice, and a magnetic presence that gains and holds the respect and attention of all. He was as much appreciated this year as last, and a large number have expressed a desire to hear him again. He is certainly a master of his art."

The doors will be open tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The members of the graduating class are: Blanche Elizabeth Armstrong, Zora Martha Carney, Leona Clark, Byron Stewart Cowing, Ellis Hovey Downey, Florine Deleray Groenier, Ralph Albert Gross, Mary Hall Houchins, Alethea Hufford, Rella McBride, Donald Clifford McRoberts, Grace Megee, Hugo Atherton Moffett, Marie Muire, Lowell Oliver Norris, Archie Sylvester Roam, Lorene Augusta Smith, Ruth Spivey, Charles Blake Stiffler, Mary Morris Williams, Erema Smith Wilk, Buford R. Winship, Ethel May Young. The class colors are white and crimson. The class motto, "We Learn Not for Today, But For Life."

The program which begins at eight o'clock is as follows:

Invocation—Rev. R. W. Abberley.
Selection, "My Love Dwelt in a Northern Land"—Girls' High School Glee Club.
Address, "The Golden Key"—Dr. S. A. Long.
Music—Orchestra.
Presentation of Diplomas—Supt. J. H. Scholl.
Benediction—Rev. E. C. Myers.
Music—Orchestra.

Automobiles will start out tomorrow advertising the "Big Wednesday." Bills will be distributed all over the county and an effort will be made to reach every resident in Rush. The automobile parties will endeavor to reach every town in the county and the rural patrons will receive their bills by mail. The merchants are urged to display their "Big Wednesday" goods in their windows tomorrow.

OVERSTREET IS CALLED BY DEATH

Well Known Ex-Congressman Passed Away This Morning at Home in Indianapolis.

GOLD STANDARD LAW AUTHOR

Also Prominent in Work of Building up and Improving the Postal System.

Jesse Overstreet, former Republican congressman from the Seventh district and well known in this city, died this morning at his home in Indianapolis. Mr. Overstreet had been in ill health for several years, and had been confined to his home since the latter part of last January.

Jesse Overstreet was born in Franklin, Johnson county, December 14, 1859, the son of Gabriel M. and Sarah L. Overstreet. He was educated in the common schools of Franklin and graduated from the Franklin high school in 1877. The next year he entered Franklin college, where he graduated in 1882, with the degree of A. B. The college later conferred on him the degree of A. M.

After his graduation he entered the law office of his father and was admitted to the bar in April, 1886. In 1890 he was made chief clerk to United States Marshal W. L. Dunlap, but at the death of Mr. Dunlap in 1891 he gave up his place and returned to practice law with his father.

Mr. Overstreet entered the political arena early. He acted as secretary of the Johnson county central committee in 1886 and took an active part in local and State campaigns. In 1892 he was elected chairman of the Fifth district committee, carrying with it a place on the State central committee. His powers as a political organizer were shown at this time and attracted wide attention. He was heralded as one of the most promising of the younger politicians in the Republican party in the State. So impressed were the Fifth district Republicans with his leadership that they nominated him for congress in 1894, when he was elected by a handsome majority, even in the face of a strong normal Democratic majority in the district. His strength as a campaigner that year showed the Republicans that their faith in him as a leader had not been misplaced.

As a congressman Mr. Overstreet held a number of important positions and championed a great deal of leading legislation. He was chairman of the important committee on postoffices and post roads, a place he held to the expiration of his office. In such position he handled with much ability the intricate questions pertaining to postoffices, post roads and appropriations for extending and improving the postal service.

INSPECT DEGREE WORK

Local Pocahontas go to Arlington for Initiation of 8 Candidates.

A party of people from here went to Arlington last night to witness the work of the Minnieus Council of the Daughters of Pocahontas. They initiated eight candidates. The members of the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Charley Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Selman Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Manford Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gilson, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boyd, Mrs. Bessie Lucas, the Misses Nanny Johnson, Mary Matusca, Flora Gutapfel and Verne Moore and Jesse Drake.

proving the postal service. In such capacity he had a large part in obtaining for Indianapolis the expensive and elaborate postoffice building recently completed, one of the handsomest buildings of its class in the country.

As chairman of the committee Mr. Overstreet set a new mark for congressmen in that position. He is credited with having been one of the hardest working, most conscientious and most tireless men ever elevated to the place. Under his administration on the committee, the postal service throughout the country was greatly improved in service and equipment. He also had an important part in the action of congress in establishing Ft. Benjamin Harrison at that place.

Mr. Overstreet was author of the gold standard law passed by congress in 1900. His abilities along financial lines and his keen perceptions of the needs of the country's financial system led to his being made a member of the national monetary commission, a place he held when his last term expired.

ARRAIGNED ON A SERIOUS CHARGE

Herbert Gregory is Arrested on an Affidavit Filed by Miss Pansy
Smith—Released on Bond.

TRIAL IS SET FOR THURSDAY

Herbert Gregory was arrested by Policeman Wolters this afternoon and arraigned before Squire Kratzer on a serious charge preferred by Miss Pansy Smith. Miss Smith alleges that a compromise was arranged and carried out for a time and was then discontinued by Gregory. Gregory will fight the case. He has been married about one year. He, accompanied by the policeman, went to Falmouth this afternoon to arrange for a two hundred dollar bond. Gregory will be bound over to the Thursday afternoon. It is said that the case will be bound over to the circuit court.

WOMAN INJURED IN FALL FROM BUGGY

Mrs. William Kaler of Andersonville
Slips When She Attempts to Pick up Line.

RETURNING FROM THIS CITY

In attempting to get one of the driving lines which she had dropped, Mrs. William Kaler, an aged resident of Andersonville, fell out of the buggy in which she was riding, south of the city yesterday afternoon and suffered a severe injury. Mrs. Kaler was returning home from this city. She let one of the lines slip from her hands and in getting out of the buggy she caught her foot and fell to the ground. Her hip was badly injured, but it is thought that it was not fractured. The injury caused her much pain and may keep her in bed for some time. The accident happened near the Willard Amos farm. Dr. D. H. Dean was called and took Mrs. Kaler on to her home in his machine. Mrs. Kaler is the mother of F. Wilson Kaler, the preacher-editor.

YOUTH GETS IN LIMELIGHT AGAIN

Noel, Six-Year-Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Finney Fires a Revolver in House.

IS SUFFERING WITH MEASLES

Searching For Amusement Finds It—
Police and Crowd Attracted by the Shot.

Noel Finney, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Finney, who has created considerable excitement on several occasions, was the cause of more excitement shortly after dinner today. Young Finney did something today which might have resulted seriously and which caused his parents considerable alarm until they learned that their son was uninjured.

He is confined to his home with the measles, but is not forced to remain in bed. The youngster became very restless and began a search over the house for something to amuse him. He visited practically every room in the house and finally entered his older brother's room. There he found a loaded revolver. He deliberately picked it up and shot it.

Consternation reigned in the Finney household for a time. They were at a loss to know the cause of the shot and Mrs. Finney's second thought was that her boy might be injured. She hurried to that part of the house where the shot came from and found the youngster holding the smoking revolver in his hand.

Fortunately the boy was uninjured, the shot not coming his way, but lodged in the wall of the room. The Finney home is located in the downtown district and people near there were attracted by the shot. The city marshal happened to be in the vicinity and was at the Finney home to learn the cause of the shot.

It will be remembered that young Finney has caused his parents trouble on numerous occasions and a few times the police have been in the fracas. Once this spring he went fishing and did not return home until eight o'clock in the evening. His parents were worried about him and a posse of men had been organized to go in search of him.

OFFERED DOUBLE PRICE FOR BULL

C. H. Baker Who Purchased Minister
Wednesday For $810 Refused
$1500 Ten Minutes Afterwards.

HAD WHITE SPOT ON HIND LEGS

C. H. Baker of Raleigh, Illinois, who purchased Minister, the well bred bull, which was expected to bring the big price at the sixth annual Jersey Isle stock farm cattle sale Wednesday, for $810, said that he had an offer of fifteen hundred dollars for the animal shortly after he had bid him in at the small price. He said that the manager of the Sheffield farm, who had had Minister leased for the past few months, made him the offer. The Sheffield man gave as the reason for not bidding on the bull, the fact that the Raleigh man was young and was just getting a start and he did not care to take him out of his means to buy. Mr. Baker refused to sell as he believed that he got a bargain. It is said that the bull had a white spot on his hind quarters which caused him to bring such a small sum.

COUNTY NEWS.

Sumner.

Mrs. Delphia Rigsbee and daughter Maxine of Indianapolis are visiting here. Her husband Arlie Rigsbee was here over Sunday.

Ertle Rigsbee who has been away for a few weeks, firing on a railroad is at home for a few days. He isn't very well.

Rev. Arnold and wife were guests of Emery Pitts and family for dinner Sunday.

Wesley McMichael and daughter Lettie are gone to Fairmount to attend the commencement of the Wesleyan Methodist Theological School there.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Swain have been very poorly again.

Miss Reba Fall of Carthage was visiting Miss Mossilene Hester, Sunday.

D. M. Pressnall went to Shelbyville Wednesday on a business trip.

Lee Macy is still very sick with rheumatism at the home of his mother Mrs. Amanda Macy. His heart is the most trouble now. The doctors are coming every day. They also have a trained nurse from Indianapolis.

Several from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Alma Jordan at the M. E. church at Arlington, Tuesday. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Turner of Rushville assisted by the pastor, Rev. S. A. Morrow. Interment in the Arlington cemetery. Rev. Turner preached her father and grandfather Spencer's funeral.

From our midst has gone one of the most remarkable lives that ever lived. It was the writers privilege to spend five months with her during her last sickness and we shall always look back to it as one of the greatest blessings of our lives to have come in contact with such a life as hers was, for it was a real benediction to all who came in her presence. Yet those months were mingled with some of the saddest scenes of our life, for such suffering our eyes never beheld. No tongue can tell it. But through it all she was so patient and resigned to God's will. I can see her now as she sat in her chair those long winter days and couldn't take a step, couldn't move without pain, and of how she would talk to us about how she never expected to be well again and wondered how long and how much she would have to suffer, yet through it all she was cheerful. It was a wonder to all how she could be so cheerful and patient. But she related one incident to me that explained it all. She told of how one night while suffering so and wondering what was before her, the scripture came to her, "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want," and the whole psalm was repeated to her. She said since then she could be so trustful and patient. She told me to have it read at her funeral. Bro. Morrow read the scripture as she requested and almost the entire service was planned by her. We will miss her in the community and in the church and she will be missed in the home, but she is at rest. May the influence of her life live on and may we all be ready to go as she was.

Carthage.

Doc. Earnest of Knightstown was here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Stanley and son Earnest of Springfield, Ill., came Thursday for a visit with R. F. Stanley and H. G. Rawls and other relatives.

WHAT WENT ON IN WALL STREET

Prosecution Invades Lair of the Sugar Trust.

BRINGS OUT SOME LETTERS

Heike, Secretary of the Company, Was an Industrious Letter Writer—Some of These Letters Would Seem to Show, the Government contends, That He Knew What Was Going on in the Matter of False Weights.

New York, May 27.—The trail of the government prosecutors in the sugar frauds has led right into the executive offices of the sugar trust at 117 Wall street, at the trial of C. R. Heike, the secretary of the company, and the other defendants before Judge Martin in the United States circuit court.

In all of the previous cases and in the present trial up until now the evidence collected by Prosecutor Stimson and his assistants had had to do largely with what went on where the sugar was weighed and in the offices of the refiners. Now it has to do with what went on in Wall street, where the figures were put together. Mr. Heike was the defendant against whom this evidence was aimed.

Mr. Heike was the letter-writer of the company. In the many years he had acted as its secretary he wrote enough letters to fill 15,000 letter-press copy books. He was the man, as the evidence showed, who attended personally to every bookkeeping detail of the business, it would seem, watching the outputs of the refineries scattered over the country, examining their detailed statements made every day and every month and writing letters to their superintendents if the results did not please. Some of his many letters have been read into the evidence, and in at least one instance would seem to show that he knew what was going on in the refineries.

When the frauds were exposed the books did not balance by many thousands of pounds on the basis of the false weights procured through the manipulation of the scales. With these weights as a basis—and statements put in evidence showed this—more refined sugar was being turned out of the refineries than the amount of raw sugar that went into them, and in the refining of sugar there is generally a loss. But the books were made to balance in the company's offices by inserting there amounts that practically represented the difference between the true weights and the false. The false weights were made up first and appeared in black ink. Then the differences at the end of each month, carefully collected in the meantime, were inserted in red ink. Then the statement with the black figures and the red figures was turned over to Mr. Heike. It was all done, according to the testimony, in his office.

Mr. Heike, it appeared from his own letters, attended to the figures and the bookkeeping details. H. O. Havemeyer, president of the sugar trust—now dead—was only interested, Mr. Heike wrote his superintendents, in results. Much of the evidence adduced was brought in apparently with a view of offsetting the contention made in favor of Mr. Heike that he did not follow such details of the business. As the strongest card in this chain of evidence connecting the frauds on the docks with the offices of the company in Wall street, Prosecutor Stimson read to the jury a letter addressed to Frank G. Turner, superintendent of the company's refinery in Boston, dated Dec. 24, 1904, and signed by Mr. Heike. It reads in part:

"I spoke to Mr. Thomas the other day in reference to a change we wish to make in your melting account in order to have it conform with the melting accounts of the other refineries and which will facilitate the comparison of the workings of our several houses."

The letter then goes on to give the details of the change, and concludes: "On the books of the refinery, one set, for instance, representing the custom house weight on which duty is paid and another set representing melting weights, giving a larger number of pounds. It will be most convenient for you, after your statement of raw sugar melted has been completed, to add these differences to each lot. The correction of the technical statement I shall make here in New York."

The Mr. Thomas mentioned in this letter is Washington B. Thomas, the president of the sugar trust, who succeeded Mr. Havemeyer as such and who at the time this letter was written, represented the New England stockholders on the company's board of directors. Mr. Thomas has been under subpoena in the present trial, but for some reason the government decided not to call him as a witness.

Holding the Witnesses.

Tipton, Ind., May 27.—George Webb, an important witness in the Yarnall murder trial, which is to be called on June 1, mysteriously disappeared a few days ago and was found at Hoopeson, Ill. He was brought back to this city, placed in jail, and the court has fixed his bond at $1,000. George Campbell, aged eighteen, who formerly lived in Kentucky, is another witness in jail, detained because he was about to go away.

Lesson IX.—Second Quarter,
For May 29, 1910.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xiv, 13-21; xv, 29-39—Memory Verses, 19, 20. Golden Text, John vi, 35—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

In this lesson we are asked to consider two great miracles, which our Lord speaks of as "the five loaves of the 5,000 and the seven loaves of the 4,000" (Matt. xvi, 9, 10) on one occasion when He rebuked the disciples for their lack of faith. The former is recorded by each of the four evangelists and is the only miracle recorded by the four, while the latter is recorded only by Matthew and Mark. In each case Jesus had compassion upon the multitudes because of their hunger, and He abundantly supplied their need by miraculously increasing a very small quantity of food. When we consider who it was who did this and how He had fed millions for many years with bread from heaven and had brought water from a rock for them, how He had cared for Elijah by the ravens and multiplied the widow's meal and oil and made twenty loaves suffice for 100 men, there is nothing remarkable in His doing this great thing, for His very name is "Wonderful." If we consider the first miracle, the 5,000 fed, we shall, I think, cover the other also. The apostles had gathered to Jesus and had told Him all that they had done and taught, and He had taken them aside to rest awhile, for there were so many coming and going that they had no leisure even to eat. (I am considering the lesson with a harmony of the gospels before me. The student of the lesson should do the same.) It is said by John that the multitudes followed Him because they saw His miracles which He did on them that were diseased. Whatever their motive was, He took advantage of their gathering to speak to them of the kingdom of God and to heal them that had need of healing (John vi, 2; Luke, ix, 11).

He was ever speaking of the kingdom and setting forth by word and deed the nature of it. If we were more like Him in this respect it would be better. When the day was far spent His disciples urged Him to send the multitudes away that they might go into the villages roundabout and buy themselves bread, but He said what must have sounded very strange, "They need not depart; give ye them to eat." I believe that is still His message to all who have the bread of life. There is in church work today an Andrew and Philip brotherhood, and if they are doing as Andrew and Philip did in John i, bringing men to Jesus, it is well, but in John vi, in connection with our lesson, we need to take warning and not example from Philip and Andrew, for the first figured as to how he thought the thousands might be fed, and Andrew seems almost to ask pardon for mentioning such a trifle as the presence of a lad with five loaves and two small fishes. They both seemed utterly to forget who Jesus was. They remind us of the mountain, or the day of small things, of Zach. iv, 7, 10, forgetting verse 6 and its teaching, that in the work of the Lord all must be accomplished not by might nor power of man, but by the Spirit of the Lord.

When Jesus heard of the lad's loaves and fishes He said, "Bring them hither to Me." Now, that is the one only thing to do always—put ourselves and just what we are or have wholly and unreservedly into His hands, remembering that He always knows what He will do, and when His time comes to act we may hear Him say, "Now shalt thou see what I will do" (John vi, 6; Ex. vi, 1). It is never a question of who we are or what we have or can do, but only who is He, and what can He do. To say or think "Can God do this?" is to speak against Him.

Jesus took the loaves and fishes and gave thanks, looking up to heaven, and, having blessed the food, He brake it and gave it to the disciples, and by them to the multitude, and all did eat as much as they would and were filled, and there remained over and above all that was needed twelve baskets full of the fragments, one for each of the twelve apostles, and the 5,000 men, besides women and children, had been filled, a multitude satisfied and the laborers twelve baskets richer than when they started. Which was better—to send them away or give them to eat? The disciples had nothing to start with, but see the abundance they had at the close. Some one has said that this particular miracle was the result of one little boy's giving all he had to Jesus. What a story that lad would have to tell his mother when he returned home of the wonders wrought by Jesus with her loaves and fishes, and how strangely joyful he must have felt to see such a multitude so fed and filled with what he had given up! Surely he must have become a devoted follower of Jesus. How we would like to know the rest of his story! I believe I am greatly indebted to him for the way the Lord has graciously used me in Bible class and missions for over twenty years. Although I had then and have now a very small church, with a comparatively small salary, when you study this lesson I shall have received and passed on to missions in twenty-one years over half a million of dollars without personal solicitation from any one. It is the Lord's doing.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 29, 1910.

Topic.—Is ours a Christian nation?—Ps. xxxiii, 8-22. Comment by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

The only answer that can be given to the question "Is the United States of America a Christian nation?" is that it is. To say that a nation is a Christian nation does not mean that every citizen of that country is a Christian, nor does it mean that there are no adherents of other religions within its bounds. The Chinese empire is Confucian, so far as religion is concerned, but multitudes of its people are not followers of Confucius, but are Buddhists, Brahmans and Christians. So it is to a greater or less extent with all nations. But the United States in numbers, in the character of its government, in its history and development, is by far more Christian than China is Confucian or India is Brahman. It is more distinctively of one particular religion (Christianity) than perhaps any other nation in the world.

1. Numerically our nation is a Christian nation. The recent religious census gives the total membership of Christian churches as about 33,000,000. But actual membership in the Christian church does not begin to include the entire number of our people who are Christian in heart and in belief. Every actual church member represents on an average between one and two who are Christians in preference to any other religion, so that within a few millions of our population, and they representing unbelief rather than faith in any other religion, all our people are professors or advocates of Christianity. No other religion has any numerical hold upon our nation.

2. Our nation, from a historical standpoint, always has been Christian. Christian people settled our land. God led them here from tyranny and persecution abroad. In all their struggles and dangers they put their trust in God, and He blessed and helped them. In all great national crises we have depended upon the God of Christianity. Moreover, today, in peace as in time of war, in quiet as in storm, our nation goes steadily on advancing in Christian civilization.

3. In the basic principles of her government our nation is Christian. God's name may not be written in the constitution of the United States, but it is plainly written in the character of that immortal document. If not written in the constitution it is stamped upon our coins, and when a popular president decided to omit the motto "In God We Trust" the people demanded its retention, and it was retained. None but a Christian nation would have taken such a vigorous position and compelled its opinion to be regarded. The laws of our states are practically Christian as well as the vast majority of our officeholders. No atheist could be elected to any important office in our land. Robert G. Ingersoll was once under consideration as a candidate for governor of New York, but his party dared not nominate him because of his agnosticism. Some time later he sarcastically asked, "What good has Christianity ever done anyway?" A clever elderly lady at once replied, "It kept Robert Ingersoll from being governor of New York." That was a great good at least.

4. The attitude of our nation toward foreign missions demonstrates that it is Christian. This nation surpasses all other Christian nations in its foreign mission benevolence and activities. America is looked upon by the world as the greatest force for the evangelization of the heathen nations. "Evangelize America and through America the world" is a common slogan. Let us speed the day when America shall be absolutely Christian. Let every Endeavorer be a good citizen and not neglect or avoid the duties of citizenship. Let not extent of territory, the fast increase and possession of wealth, the advance of commercialism, be the basis of the proud exclamation "I am an American," but rather let it be the increasingly assured fact that this is a nation "whose God is the Lord" and ours a "people whom He hath chosen for His inheritance."

Local Churches Sunday School Lesson Christian Endeavor

BIBLE READINGS.

Mark ii, 1-5; Ps. ii, 18; cxlviii, 20; Prov. xiv, 34; Matt. xvii, 24-27; xxii, 15-21; Rom. ix, 1-5; x, 1-4; xiii, 1; I Tim. ii, 1-3; Heb. xi, 8-16.

Value of New Schemes.

The "model Endeavorer" will not be afraid to start new schemes. Christian Endeavor from its beginning has been a series of new starts and new schemes. Its religious and secular life are so interwoven that you never know what a new plan will accomplish. Some Endeavorers took possession of the pastor's study while he was away on his vacation and completely renovated it, putting in a new carpet, desk and chairs. Of course the pastor preached better after his return. The young people were interested in the place where the sermons were prepared and, of course, in the sermons themselves, and the final result was a revival. New work springs from new work.

A Voice From Galatia.

After nearly fourteen years of waiting the school and church building at Yozgat, in Galatia, Turkey in Asia, were erected a short time ago. The leader in this work is Rev. G. H. Krikorian, the Armenian Christian Endeavor pioneer who many years ago published in Turkey Christian Endeavor literature which was suppressed by the timid authorities. Many young people's societies contributed to Mr. Krikorian's enterprise, and the American board kept the funds until the recent change in the Turkish empire made building possible.

United Clothes Are Built Right

Every inch of the material which goes into the manufacture of United Clothes is critically examined. If there is the slightest defect; if an inspector has the least idea that a fabric is not absolutely perfect he rejects it. Every officer of the company and every workman in the shops is imbued with the ambition to keep United Clothes at the head of the procession.

For thirty years the Richman Bros. Co. have made United Clothes and every year they have made them better, until now the man who goes to the custom-tailor for a suit of clothes is the exception. The man who knows buys United Clothes and saves from $5 to $15. Let us show you the new Spring and Summer styles.

BAD STOMACH

My Stomach is Going From Bad to Worse.

Yes, it's true: thousands of people cannot eat the simplest meal without having it lie on the stomach like lump of lead, causing misery, sour stomach and gas eruptions.

And later, when the stomach has gone from bad to worse, there will be longer periods of food fermentation, and then dizziness, biliousness, sick headaches and nervousness.

If your stomach is out of order, if it doesn't feel right after meals, go today and get a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets. In a few minutes after the first dose, the misery will disappear, and you will be thankful.

Then go right on taking Mi-o-na for a few days. It will build up the stomach, unclot the liver, purify the bowels and make you entirely satisfied with your stomach in a few days.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are made from the best prescription for stomach troubles ever written. They are sold by druggists everywhere and by F. B. Johnson & Co. and are guaranteed to cure indigestion, acute or chronic, or money back.

Booth's Pills are best for torpid liver and constipation. 25 cents.

HYOMEI

Cures catarrh or money back. Just breathe it in. Complete outfit, including inhaler $1. Extra bottles 50c. Druggists.

North Arkansas Talks

Travelers along the mountain roads of northern Arkansas will meet many of those who dwell there, says the Anthony Bulletin. Along those highways there is much frightening and driving of cattle and stock. True, the railroads have pierced the country and taken toll from the gates and roads, but they have not yet fully woven the network of steel rails and the mountain roads are much used. It is along these roads that travelers get right impressions of the natives. They are very much at home. They salute one with "Howdy, stranger?" If they be camping along the way they are likely to call out, "Light, stranger, and feed."

If one can play the "fiddle" one is yet "a man of parts" in Arkansas. The natives are a soft voiced people and it is a pleasure to hear them talk. They do not shrill out their complaints, their orders, their joy, their greetings as some folks do. There is a musical cadence even about their profanity quite refreshing and quite charming. Mules are addressed in such choice words as can not be written down, but the profanity is so natural, so a part of the scenery and the people that the mules really enjoy it and instead of looking back and kicking back they placidly flick flies from their elongated ears and plod along.

The Knock-out Blow

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing home to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but to the stomach we are utterly indifferent, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out.

Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Golden Medical Discovery." The dishonest dealer sometimes insists that he knows what the professed substitute is made of, but you don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. To him its only a difference of profit. Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If not promptly supplied trade elsewhere.

Send 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only on a free copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, cloth-bound. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Crowding Him Out.

Truly the knocker has fallen upon hard times. The virtue of the present day of strenuous activity is that it has no time or place for sloth or envy. It crowds to the rear the man with the hammer. It moves on past him, leaving him alone with his grouch. The only way he can catch up is to drop his handicap and hurry.

People are getting happier, if they are not getting holier and the former is a good omen of the latter. They have plenty of time to work in that which is worth while, or even to play, and its is one of the wholesome indications of a healthy life that people in this country play as hard as they work. But business and pleasure have turned their backs upon the knocker, setting their faces to brighter skies.

So if you are at outs with somebody settle the matter with him; do not bother me with it. That is the answer of the world today, a good one, too. Even in sports this wholesome spirit prevails; indeed it dominates there perhaps more than anywhere else. It takes the form of intolerance, it is so pronounced. It is a spirit of a manly age, a big age and far too big and fast too slow up for the little fellow.

OF HUMAN INTEREST.

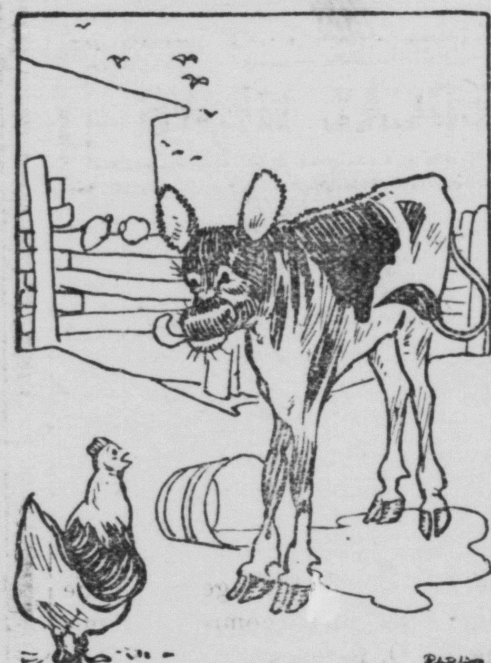

ADVANTAGES OF A CITY.

A Glenwood man who had never yet enjoyed the sights of the city or its many advantages, came to Rushville the other evening to visit the five-cent theaters, so the tale runs. He just fooled around over the streets of the city viewing the various points of interest until he had missed his last car. Yes sir, missed his last car and he was also to miss his downy bed in his little home in Glenwood. What did he do? He went to the Beer boarding house and rented a room.

In some unknown manner he roamed into the bath room. But what a strange looking thing that bath tub was to him. He called an attendant immediately and inquired into that new and twentieth century creation. "What's that, a hog trough?" was his first question. The person answering his call quieted him and had him back in his room once more. He was at a loss to explain for the gas in his room. He would not have it lighted and preferred to sleep in the dark. In fact he said that he had never heard of gas.

This tale may sound strange and weird, but that man actually exists. He was so unsophisticated that he refused to believe that man used such an appliance for taking a bath. His remembrances of things back on the farm recalled a hog trough and nothing more.

American Girl in Revolution

The American girl is in revolution. She means to be quite good-humored about it, even gay, and certainly will not permit any blundering such as the men have made in their bloodthirsty revolutions says J. B. Yeats in Harper's Weekly.

Hitherto she has steered her course by studying the men's faces, as mariners used to watch the pilot stars. She got her will by pleasing the men—enjoying the sweets of powder, while all the time pretending only to enjoy the sweets of submission. She now means to please herself and to be quite frank about it. She is face to face with herself—quite another kind of contest.

Just consider it—the woman interested in herself; surely it is a new thought. She is molding herself according to the dictates of her own heart, and not according to the will and the opinion and caprices of the man. She means to be woman-made. She will still advise him and befriend him, for she knows that without her assistance her only partner and friend would quickly come to grief. But she will no longer humor him. Man has lost his age-long flatterer and beguiler, who by her enchantments robbed difficulty of its austerity. Meantime there is one good result already apparent; the women here in America are continually drawing toward one another in a closer alliance and friendship. While they were parasites living on the smiles of their men-kind, they hated one another as only parasites can.

It is wonderful and beautiful, and the men are full of anxiety. They dare not attack, and they do not know how to defend themselves; they hope that the women may relent and things be as they were.

The ancient European idea of charming women is of a radiant creature in front of a large mirror, finding in her image a picture which the artist must continually touch and retouch with an exacting criticism which is never tired and never satisfied. This seemed her chief industry, and it was her best, for a woman can not improve her dress without improving herself. In the American woman there is little trace of this business of the larger mirror. She dresses in the established mode and does it efficiently and expensively; but it is all according to order, a regulation pattern. There is no spirit of research, no seeking for the indefinable something. She spends little time before her glass. She is lacking in the self-love that springs up so easily in the soft and suppliant souls of her European sisters—or rather, perhaps, the self-love is there, but has changed its objects, it is no longer the one who looks at it, but the inner self, which is her own property and not to be shared; her incommunicable secret.

When I meet a well dressed English woman I talk "chiffon" if I know how; if I find myself among American women I talk of friendship, of love or of affection or marriage. At once they are attentive; and it is most touching to watch their eyes, so serious and so candid, with the new-found desire of truth. English women will sometimes discuss these questions, but their interest is academic and languid. These others talk as if they felt a responsibility for every word. The beautiful woman interested in an intellectual question and realizing that it touches her interest is surely a novel sight when, as in this case, she plays the game, keeping to the rules of logic. A disputatious woman of the sort we are accustomed to call a blue-stock—ing—a clever woman with a brain like an insect's, incessantly active and also incessantly futile—is a bore and a tease; a rest-killer, a sleep-killer, raw as a schoolboy, yet a grown woman. But a beautiful woman on the threshold of life, or in the midst of it, discussing questions of conduct and feeling, under such pressure of sincerity that she speaks every moment with the totality of her being is to my mind something novel. She is a new woman, she is the new woman. Let us prepare her welcome. So far her kind are but few in number; presently they will come in battalions. Woman has often dragged down man; these will uplift the world, and they are American-born.

Read the Guarantees Back of This Non-Taxable 6% Stock

Financial Risk Reduced to a Minimum in Dodge Manufacturing Co.'s $1,000,000 Specially Secured Preferred Stock Issue. Net Assets Now $3 for $1.

NOTE the strength behind this $1,000,000 issue of non-taxable 6% preferred stock by the Dodge Manufacturing Co., of Mishawaka, Ind. The business of this company constitutes the foundation of all industrial development. The plant is the largest of its kind in the world. It turns out a staple product universally recognized as the standard of its class.

Moral Guarantee

No more excellent moral standing exists than that which characterizes the administration of the affairs of this company.

Financial Guarantee

$3,167,852.07 of live, productive assets stand back of this $1,000,000 of preferred stock, and it may never be less than $2 for each $1 under the terms of contract.

Credit Guarantee

30 years of prompt attention to every obligation has established a credit that safe-guards all interests.

Policy Guarantee

The established policy of the Company in building a large surplus, amounting at present to more than $1,167,000, to increase the value of the securities.

The entire $1,000,000 of preferred stock goes into the business. It is to be used for factory expansions and improvements made necessary by the even greater demand for the Dodge Line in the last year.

Note These Other Attractive Features

Such an investment as has been provided in this issue, covering complete protection to the principal, and guaranteeing a liberal dividend, is not often available to Indiana investors.

Investors of small sums are able to place their funds on the same basis as those favored with large fortunes, and receive the same protection that is available to the most discriminating man of experience in such matters.

The increased cost of living has put an extra burden on the income of everyone, and it can be met only by securing investments that yield larger returns without any extra risk. The non-taxable 6% preferred stock of the Dodge Manufacturing Company offers an ideal opportunity that may not come again in a great while.

Dodge preferred stock is a home security. The business is a thoroughly tried and proven success—the management has a record of over thirty years of splendid achievement.

It will be difficult to find a safer investment that will yield 6% net.

Output Guarantee

The staple character of the output has demonstrated the ability of the company to withstand the crises and depressions through which the country has passed since 1878.

System Guarantee

The cost system and factory system insure the production of the output on a minimum basis that challenges competition.

Contract Guarantee

The contract embodied in the stock certificate gives all the protection required by law, and in addition provides safeguards of such a nature as to insure against even remote possibilities of loss. In fact the effect of this contract is better than a mortgage because every item of the assets from the cash in the drawer to and including the real estate, is pledged to secure this issue.

Insurance Guarantee

The buildings and contents are protected against fire by the modern sprinkler system and a thoroughly drilled fire company of employees. $1,500,000 of insurance is kept in force.

SOCIETY NEWS

The Columbus Evening Dispatch says in part of an entertainment in which Miss Roberta Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Harris of North Perkins street, a former school teacher here and well known, was a conspicuous figure:

Alturian's final meeting, an outing at Westerville Tuesday afternoon, was the most successful in the club's history.

Miss Marie Kampmann, in costume, sang a Japanese song, with Miss Allen at the piano, and Miss Roberta Harris gave a monologue which was one of the most delightful portions of the afternoon. Garbed in a Greek costume, she impersonated Calliope, a goddess of Olympus, whose search for other famous beings brought her to Altruria, where she found incarnations of several old time friends. Her rendition of the beautiful blank verses written by Mr. Charles Orr was exquisite, Miss Harris possessing genuine dramatic ability, with unusual grace in gesture and much delicacy of manner.

The piece de resistance of the afternoon, and a genuine contrast to the serious blank verse read by Miss Harris, was the "Chantier Ballet," which made the Republican Glee club endeavor in that line extremely foolish and incomplete.

Guests began to arrive today for the annual commencement dance which will be given in the Modern Woodmen hall tonight. The dancing will not be started until after the commencement exercises are finished at the Main Street Christian church. The event this year is expected to be more elaborate than any previous one. The hall has been tastefully arranged and everything is in readiness for the occasion. The Auditorium orchestra will furnish the music.

The THIRD DEGREE

A Narrative of Metropolitan Life

By CHARLES KLEIN and ARTHUR HORNBLow

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

(Copyright, 1909, by G. W. Dillingham Company.)

"Flesh and blood," she went on earnestly, "is of mutual interest. Your son is yours whether you cast him off or not. You've got to hear me. I am not asking anything for myself. It's for him, your son. He's in trouble. Don't desert him at a moment like this. Whatever he may have done to deserve your anger—don't—don't deal him such a blow. You cannot realize what it means in such a critical situation. Even if you only pretend to be friendly with him—you don't need to really be friends with him. But don't you see what the effect will be if you, his father, publicly withdraw from his support? Everybody will say he's no good, that he can't be any good or his father wouldn't go back on him. You know what the world is. People will condemn him because you condemn him. They won't even give him a hearing. For God's sake, don't go back on him now!"

Mr. Jeffries turned and walked toward the window, and stood there gazing on the trees on the lawn. She did not see his face, but by the nervous twitching of his hands behind his back, she saw that her words had not been without effect. She waited in silence for him to say something. Presently he turned around, and she saw that his face had changed. The look of haughty pride had gone. She had touched the chords of the father's heart. Gravely he said:

"Of course you realize that you, above all others, are responsible for his present position."

She was about to demur, but she checked herself. What did she care what they thought of her? She was fighting to save her husband, not to make the Jeffries family think better of her. Quickly she answered:

"Well, all right—I'm responsible—but don't punish him because of me."

Mr. Jeffries looked at her.

Who was this young woman who championed so warmly his own son? She was his wife, of course. But wives of a certain kind are quick to desert their husbands when they are in trouble. There must be some good in the girl, after all, he thought. Hesitating-

IF SICK--WHY PAY

Unless Health First Returns.

Here is what should and can be done! Now you would not willingly pay for food that was worthless—would you?

Then why pay for medicine until that medicine first proves to you its actual worth?

Positively knowing what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do for the sick, I say to all "don't pay unless health first returns." And I back my Restorative with a signed and sealed 30 day "No help, No pay" contract.

I positively pledge to the sick everywhere that "Dr. Shoop's Restorative is absolutely free if it fails." Let others do the same—or else pass their prescriptions by.

If you need more strength, more vitality, more vigor or more vim, use my Restorative a few days and note the immediate improvement.

When the Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys go wrong, then test Dr. Shoop's Restorative. I do not dose the Stomach nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys, for that is wrong. Years ago I cast away that mistaken idea in medicine. The books below will best tell you how I am succeeding.

These books also tell of a tiny hidden "inside nerve," no larger than a silken thread. They tell how that nerve, until it fails, actually gives to the Heart its power, its tone, its never-ending action or impulse.

These books will open up new and helpful ideas to those who are not well. They tell how the Stomach, and Kidneys each have their "inside" or power nerves. They tell how the Restorative was especially made to reach and revitalize these weak or failing "inside nerves." All of these facts tell why I am able to say, "It is free if it fails."

This is why I say "take no chance on a medicine whose maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer."

So write me today for the order.

I have appointed honest and responsible druggists in nearly every community to issue my medicines to the sick.

But write me first for the order.

All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative, but all are not authorized to give the 30 day test. So drop me a line please—and thus have disappointment and delays. Tell me also which book you need.

A postal will do.

Besides, you are free to consult me as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best offer is surely worth your simple request. So write now while you have it in time please—for tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

ly, he said:

"I could have forgiven him everything, everything but—"

"But me," she said promptly. "I know it. Don't you suppose I feel it, too, and don't you suppose it hurts?"

Mr. Jeffries stiffened up. This woman was evidently trying to excite his sympathies. The hard, proud expression came back into his face, as he answered curtly:

"Forgive me for speaking plainly, but my son's marriage with such a woman as you has made it impossible to even consider the question of reconciliation."

With all her efforts at self-control, Annie would have been more than human had she not resented the insinuation in this cruel speech. For a moment she forgot the importance of preserving amicable relations, and she retorted:

"Such a woman as me? That's pretty plain—. But you'll have to speak even more plainly. What do you mean when you say such a woman as me? What have I done?"

Mr. Jeffries looked out of the window without answering, and she went on:

"I worked in a factory when I was nine years old, and I've earned my living ever since. There's no disgrace in that, is there? There's nothing against me personally—nothing disgraceful, I mean. I know I'm not educated. I'm not a lady in your sense of the word, but I've led a decent life. There isn't a breath of scandal against me—not a breath. But what's the good of talking about me? Never mind me. I'm not asking for anything. What are you going to do for him? He must have the best lawyer that money can procure—none of those barroom orators. Judge Brewster, your lawyer, is the man. We want Judge Brewster."

Mr. Jeffries shrugged his shoulders.

"I repeat—my son's marriage with the daughter of a man who died in prison—"

She interrupted him.

"That was hard luck—nothing but hard luck. You're not going to make me responsible for that, are you? Why, I was only eight years old when that happened. Could I have prevented it?" Recklessly she went on: "Well, blame it on me if you want to, but don't hold it up against Howard. He didn't know it when he married me. He never would have known it but for the detectives employed by you to dig up my family history, and the newspapers did the rest. God! what they didn't say! I never realized I was of so much importance. They printed it in scare-head lines. It made a fine sensation for the public, but it destroyed my peace of mind."

"A convict's daughter!" said Mr. Jeffries contemptuously.

"He was a good man at that!" she answered hotly. "He kept the squarest poolroom in Manhattan, but he refused to pay police blackmail, and he was railroaded to prison." Indignantly she went on: "If my father's shingle had been up in Wall street, and he'd made 50 dishonest millions, you'd forget it next morning, and you'd welcome me with open arms. But he was unfortunate. Why, Billy Delmore was the best man in the world. He'd give away the last dollar he had to a friend. I wish to God he was alive now! He'd help to save your son. I wouldn't have to come here to ask you."

Mr. Jeffries shifted uneasily on his feet and looked away.

"You don't seem to understand," he said impatiently. "I've completely cut him off from the family. It's as if he were dead."

She approached nearer and laid her hand gently on the banker's arm.

"Don't say that, Mr. Jeffries. It's wicked to say that about your own son. He's a good boy at heart, and he's been so good to me. Ah, if you only knew how hard he's tried to get work I'm sure you'd change your opinion of him. Lately he's been drinking a little because he was disappointed in not getting anything to do. But he tried so hard. He walked the streets night and day. Once he even took a position as guard on the elevated road. Just think of it, Mr. Jeffries, your son—to such straits were we reduced—but he caught cold and had to give it up. I wanted to go to work and help him out. I always earned my living before I married him, but he wouldn't let me. You don't know what a good heart he's got. He's been weak and foolish, but you know he's only a boy."

She watched his face to see if her words were having any effect, but Mr. Jeffries showed no sign of relenting. Sarcastically, he said:

"And you took advantage of the fact and married him?"

For a moment she made no reply. She felt the reproach was not unmerited, but why should they blame her for seeking happiness? Was she not entitled to it as much as any other woman? She had not married Howard for his social position or his money. In fact, she had been worse off since her marriage than she was before. She married him because she loved him, and because she thought she could redeem him, and she was ready to go through any amount of suffering to prove her disinterested devotion. Quietly, she said:

"Yes, I know—I did wrong. But I— I love him, Mr. Jeffries. Believe me or not—I love him. It's my only excuse. I thought I could take care of him. He needed some one to look after him, he's too easily influenced. You know his character is not so strong as it might be. He told me that his fellow students at college used to hypnotize him and make him do all kinds of things to amuse the other boys. He says that somehow he's never been the same since. I—I just loved him

IT'S ALWAYS BAD

The Best of Backs Are Bad When They Ache, and Rushville People Know It.

A bad back is always bad. Bad at night when bedtime comes. Just as bad in the morning. Ever try Doan's Kidney Pills for it?

Know they cure backache—cure every kidney ill?

If you don't, some Rushville people do. Read it:

George Priest, 223 West Third Street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I was bothered by attacks of kidney trouble for several years and as time passed my condition became worse. There was a dull pain directly over my kidneys and I had spells of dizziness and weakness. My sight often became blurred and I knew that something must be done. Three years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and were so highly recommended that I got a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. They proved to be the best kidney medicine I had ever taken and in a short time had entirely relieved me. On several occasions during the past three years I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have always given entire satisfaction."

"You Will Leave America Never to Return—"

because I was strong and he was weak. I thought I could protect him. But now this terrible thing has happened, and I find I am powerless. It's too much for me. I can't fight this battle alone. Won't you help me, Mr. Jeffries?" she added pleadingly. "Won't you help me?"

The banker was thoughtful a minute, then suddenly he turned on her.

"Will you consent to a divorce if I agree to help him?"

She looked at him with dismay. There was tragic tenseness in this dramatic situation—a father fighting for his son, a woman fighting for her husband.

"A divorce?" she stammered. "Why, I never thought of such a thing as that."

"It's the only way to save him," said the banker coldly.

"The only way?" she faltered.

"The only way," said Mr. Jeffries firmly. "Do you consent?" he asked.

Annie threw up her head. Her pale face was full of determination, as she replied resignedly, catching her breath as she spoke:

"Yes, if it must be. I will consent to a divorce—to save him!"

"You will leave the country and go abroad to live?" continued the banker coldly.

She listened as in a dream. That she would be confronted by such an alternative as this had never entered her mind. She wondered why the world was so cruel and heartless. Yet if the sacrifice must be made to save Howard she was ready to make it.

"You will leave America and never return—is that understood?" repeated the banker.

"Yes, sir," she replied falteringly.

Mr. Jeffries paced nervously up and down the room. For the first time he seemed to take an interest in the interview. Patronizingly he said:

"You will receive a yearly allowance through my lawyer."

Annie tossed up her chin defiantly. She would show the aristocrat that she could be as proud as he was.

"Thanks," she exclaimed. "I don't accept charity. I'm used to earning my own living."

"Oh, very well," replied the banker quickly. "That's as you please. But I have your promise—you will not attempt to see him again?"

"What! Not see him once more? To say good-by?" she exclaimed. A broken sob half checked her utterance. "Surely you can't mean that, Mr. Jeffries."

The banker shrugged his shoulders. "I don't want the newspapers filled with sensational articles about the heartrending farewell interview between Howard Jeffries, Jr., and his wife—with your picture on the front page."

She was not listening to his sarcasm.

"Not even to say good-by?" she sobbed.

"No," replied Mr. Jeffries firmly. "Not even to say good-by."

"But what will he say? What will he think?" she cried.

"He will see it is for the best," answered the banker. "He himself will thank you for your action."

There was a long silence, broken only by the sound of the girl's sobbing. Finally she said:

"Very well, sir. I'll do as you say." She looked up. Her eyes were dry, the lines about her mouth set and determined. "Now," she said, "what are you going to do for him?"

THE BEARS FINALLY GOT BIG BULL TRADER

Jim Patten Routed On Eve of His Retirement.

Chicago, May 27.—James A. Patten, almost on the eve of his retirement, was forced to "take the count" yesterday in one of the liveliest bouts he has ever had with the bears. The big speculator acknowledged defeat by throwing over several million bushels of September wheat at quotations said to average fully 10 cents under the purchase price. Many of his followers likewise suffered losses. The total loss sustained by Patten was $1,200,000 and by his friends $800,000, according to brokers and estimates.

Excitement ran high on the board of trade when it was learned that the Patten crowd was on the run, and the pit began to fill with offerings. Brokers literally fought to execute orders on a market in which the prices were declining in a small manner. September wheat before the noon hour had dropped 4 cents under the close Wednesday, selling at 93 3/4 cents. This was 10 cents a bushel lower than it was selling about two weeks ago.

Not content with stampeding the Patten forces, the bears, led by Armour and Lichstein, attacked the position of T. W. Waterman, the Albany miller, in May wheat, forcing the price of that delivery down from $1.10 1/2 to $1.06 1/4. The Armour house is said to have bought altogether in the neighborhood of 2,000,000 bushels of actual wheat, which will be delivered to Waterman next Tuesday. The eastern man and those behind him are said to be ready to take in the wheat and pay for it. Waterman is an old-time trader, who successfully squeezed the shorts by boosting September wheat last year.

On the closing dealings September wheat slumped to 39 cents and May $1.05. These prices, so brokers declared, marked the end of the most disastrous bull campaign in which Mr. Patten has ever engaged.

Called Out the Bloodhounds.

Pierceton, Ind., May 27.—An attempt was made to kill Guy Dill, a hardware merchant, who was driving his auto. Three miles southwest of town, while driving at a rapid speed, Dill ran into a barbed wire stretched across the highway. Had the wire been a trifle higher he might have been decapitated. Bloodhounds traced footprints to a house in the neighborhood.

Two Boys and a Gun.

Tipton, Ind., May 27.—While playing with a loaded rifle at his home in Madison township, Arthur Deever, aged seven, shot and instantly killed Joseph Wilkens, aged four.

TWENTY-SEVEN CAUGHT IN TRAP

French Submarine Boat Rammed
By Channel Packet.

HAD NO CHANCE TO ESCAPE

While Maneuvering in the Channel the Submarine Pluviose Came Up Directly Underneath the Packet Ville de Calais and Was Sent to the Bottom With All on Board—Another in Long Series of Disasters.

Calais, France, May 27.—The French submarine boat Pluviose was sunk just outside the bay here in the English channel, in a collision with the Calais-Dover packet Ville de Calais. The crew, consisting of the commander, two other officers and twenty-four men, were lost.

The disaster was due to the recklessness of the submarine's commander in attempting to pass under the packet. He miscalculated the depth required for this feat and the submarine struck the steamer. Although the accident occurred in full sunlight, the captain of the Ville de Calais failed to see the Pluviose, which was maneuvering half submerged at the time of the accident.

The first the captain knew of the presence of the submarine was when the crash came. The Ville de Calais had just sailed from Calais when one of her paddle-wheels struck something. The steamer received an extremely violent shock and she stopped at once. Her captain thought at first that the packet had hit a submerged wreck, but a short time later part of the Pluviose appeared rising from the water behind the Ville de Calais.

The captain ordered a boat to be lowered from the steamer to go to the aid of the submarine. The sailors who manned the boat actually stepped on the small deck of the Pluviose and knocked loudly on the iron plating. They received no response, however, from the men inside, and in a few seconds the Pluviose made a sudden plunge and disappeared. The sailors from the Ville de Calais had scarcely time to regain their boat before the submarine sank.

It is regarded as very strange that the submarine was maneuvering directly in the track of the cross-channel steamers. The news of the accident caused an enormous sensation at Calais and in Paris, where it had been hoped that the long series of disasters to French submarine boats was at last ended.

The Pork Barrel in Danger.

Washington, May 27.—Republicans and Democrats "interested in keeping down government expenditures," have introduced bills calling for appropriations for public buildings approximating $125,000,000. There is a fair prospect that the president will veto the omnibus public building bill. The appropriation to run the government last year was largely in excess of one billion dollars. The budget this year will be even larger.

Draw the Line on the Mayor.

Mattcon, Ill., May 27.—Five Sunday schools of this city with more than 2,000 members notified the local post of the G. A. R. that they cannot participate in the Memorial day parade. None of the members will march behind Mayor Charles T. Welch, who is under indictment for perjury and for malfeasance and misfeasance in office.

PITTSBURG SOCIETY CROWDS INTO COURT

One of Its Leaders Resents Being Called "a Fat Thing."

Pittsburg, May 27.—Almost every member of the famous "500 club," which comprises the best part of Pittsburg's suburban rich on the west side of town, crowded into Judge Evans's court, where Mrs. Hilda M. Shafer, one of the club leaders, was suing Mrs. Gladys Haupt for $5,000 damages. Mrs. Shafer alleges slander and spent the day with her score of witnesses trying to prove that Mrs. Haupt had recently referred to her as "a fat thing," and that she had openly accused her of stealing a pair of $3 gloves while attending one of the club's social functions.

No matter which way the verdict goes, it is certain that a new trial will be asked by the lady who does not like the result. The reason for this will be that one of the fat jurymen went to sleep while an attorney was addressing the jury. This was probably the most amusing incident of the entire trial, though there were many funny moments. Attorney Cramer was making an impassioned appeal for one of the women, when one of his dramatic pauses was filled with a frightful snore. Judge Evans came as near laughing aloud as he ever will in a courtroom, while a tipstave prodded Jurman Dally with his pole. Dally apologized sleepily to the court.

PLEA FOR CLEMENCY

Thirteen Thousand Indians Ask For Former Banker's Pardon.

Washington, May 27.—Petitions of over 13,000 Indiana citizens for the pardon of John R. Walsh, former Chicago banker, have been added to the mass of petitions before the department of justice. Congressman Ralph W. Moss of Indiana, acting for Congressman Callop, took the additional petitions to the attorney general.

With those previously submitted to President Taft and referred to the attorney general, the petitions for Walsh's pardon now hold over 36,000 names. Notice has been received that the convicted banker is preparing his personal appeal. It is expected at the department of justice within a day or two. The pardon attorneys will be ready to make a recommendation to the president soon after Walsh's personal plea is received.

WILL NOT TURN OUT

Voters Show Their Indifference to the Primary System.

Indianapolis, May 27.—The count of the votes cast in Tuesday's primaries was not completed till Thursday afternoon, and the totals show that neither party cast over 33 per cent of its total vote.

"The people won't come out to primaries," said a leading politician, "and it is not worth while to try and get them out. Here were more than a hundred candidates for office, yet less than one-third of the voters came to the polls. And now we have men on the ticket nominated by less than one-eighth of the voting strength of the party and the other seven-eighths under no obligation whatever to support them."

Dropped From Sight.

Peoria, Ill., May 27.—Ben Cartwright, secretary of the park board of the city of Peoria, and president of the village board of Averyville, dropped from sight at noon on Monday and efforts to discover his whereabouts have proved unavailing. An investigation has been begun of the accounts of the missing man, but nothing irregular was unearthed.

Jeff Hatson, a negro, who murdered a deputy sheriff at Acton, Ala., was lynched.

What Other Papers Say About Convention

Evidence of Soreness in Different Counties—Comments on Treatment of Mull

As Usual.

(Richmond Palladium.)

The Democratic party in convention assembled has been the strongest ally of the Republican party since time in memoriam and the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. When the Republicans need help the Democrats are the very ones to supply the aid by their nominations.

The Democratic convention which met at the New Murray had just two opportunities to pull away a great many Republican voters and to capture most of the independents. Those possibilities were H. U. Johnson and Lon Mull.

There is not much doubt that both, or rather, either, of these gentlemen would have scored heavily hereabouts and for that matter over the district.

Perhaps, if the Democratic party had heeded the advice of H. U. Johnson on the tariff question he would have left himself free to enter the race—such indeed is the rumor. For on good authority we learn that Mr. Johnson's resolution on the tariff was never reported.

Lon Mull could have cleaned up the southern part of the district in such shape as we believe only a Mull can. There is a singular and unique regard for that family which has been won by sturdy citizenship and character which is unparalleled in Indiana.

Gray is comparatively unknown except for winning the mayoralty contest in Connersville in a year when anyone could have done it. Gray's position as an unknown may or may not be against him—in his case it may be an asset.

There is nothing at this time which can be said about Gray—except that he does not appear to be congressional timber. The remark we started with holds true—the Democratic party as a party has behaved precisely as usual.

Why Kuhn Lost

(Kokomo Tribune.)

The Rev. T. H. Kuhn of Richmond is a former Kokomo minister, and well remembered here. He has been active in Democratic politics since leaving this city, was twice the nominee of his party for congress and two years ago was a formidable candidate for the nomination for governor. Rev. Kuhn was too much of a temperance man to suit his party and the bosses succeeded in defeating him at the Richmond convention.

Sore in Henry.

(New Castle Courier.)

The Henry county delegation returned from the Richmond convention Wednesday night in anything but a pleasant frame of mind, for the reason that Henry county's candidate, W. S. Chambers, who so richly deserved the honor, was stabbed in the back—politically. Out of 17 votes from Henry county the most he ever received at any one time was an even dozen. The party leaders who believed before the convention and still believe that Chambers would have been nominated if the delegation had voted solidly for him from the start.

Chambers' defeat was encompassed by Rev. Thomas H. Kuhn previous to the call for both township and county conventions. During his preaching expeditions in Henry county he did some political missionary work on behalf of himself. So successful was he that he had five delegates sewed up in a bag and tied with a string of solemn pledges even before the men knew they would be delegates.

Those who had Chambers' cause at heart did everything in their power to get control of the five Kuhn votes. Pleas were in vain, coercion resulted in absolutely nothing, and arguments counted for naught. The five Kuhn delegates were for Kuhn first, last and all the time.

In standing for Kuhn as they did, the five Henry county delegates not only defeated Chambers, but their action has resulted in a lot of sore spots. Chambers was entitled to all the support that Henry county could give him. There never was a more loyal or self-sacrificing Democrat in the county and the "empty honor" should have been his by reason of his untiring efforts in behalf of the party. That he was betrayed is quite evident and that fact is rankling in the breasts of some of the Democrats. One said: "We failed to nominate Chambers, but we beat Kuhn, and that was what every county was out to do."

Kuhn occupied a conspicuous place on the stage and every time a vote was recorded for him he waved his hand and beamed upon the party casting it. The other candidates were out on the floor working with their delegations, but Kuhn imagined that everything was lovely and that the plum would be brought around to him on a silver platter. At least that is what the delegates surmised from his attitude.

ffqsy-Ho!e-rnaad,Bh

Chambers Says—

(New Castle Times.)

The Henry county delegation presented a puzzle to the committee on credentials, but it was finally accepted. It was claimed five of the delegates had openly announced their support for Kuhn before the county convention had been held and they were selected as Kuhn delegates. The county placed a candidate in the field and he was handicapped by these conditions from the start.

Mull Too Wealthy.

(Richmond Item.)

Wayne with her twenty-six votes did not want to throw them to the strongest opponent of her own candidate for the sake of county pride. The ability and accomplishments of Gray were recognized and Tuesday night some work was done quietly but effectively among the Wayne delegates that made county leaders say he would be a strong candidate. The fact Mull owns bank stock and sometimes is credited with being a banker hurt his chances with the Wayne county delegates. "We want a poor man's friend and we don't believe Mull is," added one delegate before the convention, when he was telling of the prospects of a break in the delegation. This expression was used effectively against Mull and in the end barred him from any hope of help from Wayne.

Ex-Republicans.

(Greensburg News.)

Ex-Republicans were being recognized in the Democratic convention yesterday in persons of Henry U. Johnson, Richmond; George W. Campbell, Rushville, and W. A. Kaler, Greensburg.

Some Hot Ones.

(Shelbyville Republican.)

It will not require twenty-one ballots to defeat Mr. Gray in November. The first shake out of the box will settle the matter for all time.

Lon Mull will now return to the rag weeds, a sadder and a wiser man. If Tom had but known the result he probably might be looking for a persimmon now.

The committee on resolutions at Richmond neglected to mention the Kern-Shively bribery charge, but it soaked everything Republican that was in sight.

It is conceded on all sides that the majority in the Shelby county delegation at Richmond played poor politics, particularly at the last when hope fled.

FUNERAL SERVICE SUNDAY

Last Sad Rites to be Performed Over Body of Mattie Coon.

The funeral services of Miss Mattie Coon, who died at her home near Orange yesterday afternoon, will be held at the Salt Creek church Sunday, the funeral cortege to leave the residence at eleven o'clock in the morning. She suffered with a severe attack of the measles which developed into hasty consumption and caused her death.

CHOOSE LIBRARIAN FOR READING ROOM

Miss Mary Sleeth Will Have Charge of the D. A. R. Rooms in the Court House.

IS FINISHING CLASSIFICATION

Miss Mary Sleeth has been selected as librarian for the Daughters of the American Revolution reading room in the court house. Miss Sleeth accepted the position on account of her interest in the work and her wishes to see the plan a success. The other members of the D. A. R. have worked untiringly for the establishment of the reading and rest room wholly without compensation and with inconvenience to themselves. Miss Scott of the State Library commission is here now finishing the classification of the books. No definite date has been set for the opening only that it will take place soon. The reading and rest room will be opened at the same time.

The Rev. J. W. Turner Delivers Address to Graduates of the Fairview Schools.

TWENTY-FOUR IN THE CLASS

The Rev. J. W. Turner, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, delivered the commencement address Wednesday evening to the graduates of the Fairview school. The Odd Fellows hall at Falmouth was crowded and the audience gave close attention to the instructive address by the Rev. Mr. Turner on the subject "Fruits of Intelligence."

There are twenty-four in the class. The address of welcome was delivered by Miss Helen Cregar and the valedictory was given by Russell Baker. Superintendent Trusler after a short talk presented the diplomas to the graduates.

WOMEN BOOST FACTORY FUND

Will Make Good Their Promise to Pay For Twenty-Five Lots at $300 Each.

THEY HAVE BEEN A BIG HELP

Rushville women are usually just as progressive as the women in any other city. That does not mean they are insurgents. But at Anderson the women have thought it their duty to assist in building up the city and accordingly they have the Women's Co-operative company. The following dispatch to the Indianapolis News from Anderson will be of interest here just at this time:

When the Women's Co-operative company of this city held its annual meeting last evening it demonstrated that women of this city proposed to make good their pledge to pay for twenty-five town lots at $300 each for assistance to a local factory fund. In the two years since the company of women was incorporated it has collected from its members or stockholders $5,861.50, and has made regular payments on its obligations for $7,500 of real estate.

What Other Papers Say About Convention

Evidence of Soreness in Different Counties—Comments on Treatment of Mull

As Usual.

(Richmond Palladium.)

The Democratic party in convention assembled has been the strongest ally of the Republican party since time in memoriam and the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. When the Republicans need help the Democrats are the very ones to supply the aid by their nominations.

The Democratic convention which met at the New Murray had just two opportunities to pull away a great many Republican voters and to capture most of the independents. Those possibilities were H. U. Johnson and Lon Mull.

There is not much doubt that both, or rather, either, of these gentlemen would have scored heavily hereabouts and for that matter over the district.

Perhaps, if the Democratic party had heeded the advice of H. U. Johnson on the tariff question he would have left himself free to enter the race—such indeed is the rumor. For on good authority we learn that Mr. Johnson's resolution on the tariff was never reported.

Lon Mull could have cleaned up the southern part of the district in such shape as we believe only a Mull can. There is a singular and unique regard for that family which has been won by sturdy citizenship and character which is unparalleled in Indiana.

Gray is comparatively unknown except for winning the mayoralty contest in Connersville in a year when anyone could have done it. Gray's position as an unknown may or may not be against him—in his case it may be an asset.

There is nothing at this time which can be said about Gray—except that he does not appear to be congressional timber. The remark we started with holds true—the Democratic party as a party has behaved precisely as usual.

Why Kuhn Lost

(Kokomo Tribune.)

The Rev. T. H. Kuhn of Richmond is a former Kokomo minister, and well remembered here. He has been active in Democratic politics since leaving this city, was twice the nominee of his party for congress and two years ago was a formidable candidate for the nomination for governor. Rev. Kuhn was too much of a temperance man to suit his party and the bosses succeeded in defeating him at the Richmond convention.

Sore in Henry.

(New Castle Courier.)

The Henry county delegation returned from the Richmond convention Wednesday night in anything but a pleasant frame of mind, for the reason that Henry county's candidate, W. S. Chambers, who so richly deserved the honor, was stabbed in the back—politically. Out of 17 votes from Henry county the most he ever received at any one time was an even dozen. The party leaders who believed before the convention and still believe that Chambers would have been nominated if the delegation had voted solidly for him from the start.

Chambers' defeat was encompassed by Rev. Thomas H. Kuhn previous to the call for both township and county conventions. During his preaching expeditions in Henry county he did some political missionary work on behalf of himself. So successful was he that he had five delegates sewed up in a bag and tied with a string of solemn pledges even before the men knew they would be delegates.

Those who had Chambers' cause at heart did everything in their power to get control of the five Kuhn votes. Pleas were in vain, coercion resulted in absolutely nothing, and arguments counted for naught. The five Kuhn delegates were for Kuhn first, last and all the time.

In standing for Kuhn as they did, the five Henry county delegates not only defeated Chambers, but their action has resulted in a lot of sore spots. Chambers was entitled to all the support that Henry county could give him. There never was a more loyal or self-sacrificing Democrat in the county and the "empty honor" should have been his by reason of his untiring efforts in behalf of the party. That he was betrayed is quite evident and that fact is ranking in the breasts of some of the Democrats. One said: "We failed to nominate Chambers, but we beat Kuhn, and that was what every county was out to do."

Kuhn occupied a conspicuous place on the stage and every time a vote was recorded for him he waved his hand and beamed upon the party casting it. The other candidates were out on the floor working with their delegations, but Kuhn imagined that everything was lovely and that the plum would be brought around to him on a silver platter. At least that is what the delegates surmised from his attitude.

Chambers Says—

(New Castle Times.)

The Henry county delegation presented a puzzle to the committee on credentials, but it was finally accepted. It was claimed five of the delegates had openly announced their support for Kuhn before the county convention had been held and they were selected as Kuhn delegates. The county placed a candidate in the field and he was handicapped by these conditions from the start.

Mull Too Wealthy.

(Richmond Item.)

Wayne with her twenty-six votes did not want to throw them to the strongest opponent of her own candidate for the sake of county pride. The ability and accomplishments of Gray were recognized and Tuesday night some work was done quietly but effectively among the Wayne delegates that made county leaders say he would be a strong candidate. The fact Mull owns bank stock and sometimes is credited with being a banker hurt his chances with the Wayne county delegates. "We want a poor man's friend and we don't believe Mull is," added one delegate before the convention, when he was telling of the prospects of a break in the delegation. This expression was used effectively against Mull and in the end barred him from any hope of help from Wayne.

Ex-Republicans.

(Greensburg News.)

Ex-Republicans were being recognized in the Democratic convention yesterday in persons of Henry U. Johnson, Richmond; George W. Campbell, Rushville, and W. A. Kaler, Greensburg.

Some Hot Ones.

(Shelbyville Republican.)

It will not require twenty-one ballots to defeat Mr. Gray in November. The first shake out of the box will settle the matter for all time.

Lon Mull will now return to the rag weeds, a sadder and a wiser man. If Tom had but known the result he probably might be looking for a persimmon now.

The committee on resolutions at Richmond neglected to mention the Kern-Shively bribery charge, but it soaked everything Republican that was in sight.

It is conceded on all sides that the majority in the Shelby county delegation at Richmond played poor politics, particularly at the last when hope fled.

FUNERAL SERVICE SUNDAY

Last Sad Rites to be Performed Over Body of Mattie Coon.

The funeral services of Miss Mattie Coon, who died at her home near Orange yesterday afternoon, will be held at the Salt Creek church Sunday, the funeral cortege to leave the residence at eleven o'clock in the morning. The burial will take place in the church cemetery. Miss Coon was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Coon. She suffered with a severe attack of the measles which developed into hasty consumption and caused her death.

CHOOSE LIBRARIAN FOR READING ROOM

Miss Mary Sleeth Will Have Charge of the D. A. R. Rooms in the Court House.

IS FINISHING CLASSIFICATION

Miss Mary Sleeth has been selected as librarian for the Daughters of the American Revolution reading room in the court house. Miss Sleeth accepted the position on account of her interest in the work and her wishes to see the plan a success. The other members of the D. A. R. have worked untiringly for the establishment of the reading and rest room wholly without compensation and with inconvenience to themselves. Miss Scott of the State Library commission is here now finishing the classification of the books. No definite date has been set for the opening only that it will take place soon. The reading and rest room will be opened at the same time.

The Rev. J. W. Turner Delivers Address to Graduates of the Fairview Schools.

TWENTY-FOUR IN THE CLASS

The Rev. J. W. Turner, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, delivered the commencement address Wednesday evening to the graduates of the Fairview school. The Odd Fellows hall at Falmouth was crowded and the audience gave close attention to the instructive address by the Rev. Mr. Turner on the subject "Fruits of Intelligence."

There are twenty-four in the class. The address of welcome was delivered by Miss Helen Cregar and the valedictory was given by Russell Baker. Superintendent Trusler after a short talk presented the diplomas to the graduates.

WOMEN BOOST FACTORY FUND

Will Make Good Their Promise to Pay For Twenty-Five Lots at $300 Each.

THEY HAVE BEEN A BIG HELP

Rushville women are usually just as progressive as the women in any other city. That does not mean they are insurgents. But at Anderson the women have thought it their duty to assist in building up the city and accordingly they have the Women's Co-operative company. The following dispatch to the Indianapolis News from Anderson will be of interest here just at this time:

When the Women's Co-operative company of this city held its annual meeting last evening it demonstrated that women of this city proposed to make good their pledge to pay for twenty-five town lots at $300 each for assistance to a local factory fund. In the two years since the company of women was incorporated it has collected from its members or stockholders $5,861.50, and has made regular payments on its obligations for $7,500 of real estate.
